INTERPRETING THE NEWS

By Elmer E. White

Michigan Press Association

CIVIL WRONG

Core of the civil rights problems is that the American public does not yet accept concepts of equality of opportunity on a personal commitment basis. The problem will not be solved until civil rights laws are translated into results, and it must happen at the community level.

Those are the beliefs of Burton I. Gordin, Executive Director of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission.

This office works with some of the situations blamed for recent race riots: charges of discrimination in employment, real estate transactions and others. It was created partly to reduce this sort of unfairness and, no doubt, in hopes of reducing pressures between the races.

"A short term pessimist," a long term optimist," is the way Gordin describes himself. The top official in a civil rights organization has one of the toughest jobs in government, Gordin believes. It ranks with mayor, police chief and school superintendent.

One measure of success, according to Gordin, is when the criticism comes from. If complaints are voiced by both the minority groups and the "establishment," chances are that the human rights office is probably doing its job.

"Success strangles us," says Gordin. "The more we do, the more there is demand for our services."

The state civil rights office has more complaints about job discrimination than anything else. These account for about 60 per cent of their cases. Office records indicate that about 30 per cent of the complaints have some basis in fact. Most of these are resolved in private conciliation. About 70 per cent of the complaints are dropped.

Unfair claims regarding housing make up the next largest segment of the office workload. Of these, 47 per cent are dropped and 53 per cent are settled satisfactorily.

Most difficulty arises with local government officials, states Gordin. This takes the form of resistance, resentment, challenge and absence of cooperation. Officials expect the office to be satisfied when they simply state that there is no discrimination in face of charges to the contrary. The state office must conduct its own investigation, which irritates some local officials.

There is a growing acceptance among police and housing officials for the position of the state civil rights office, especially since many of their investigations have shown that the police departments are operating fairly and without bias.

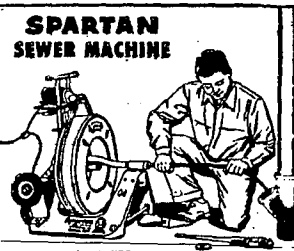

A relatively new twist in civil rights movements, agrees Gordin, is the idea that there are more pressing issues than integration. "More and more Negro leaders, even if they do so reluctantly, adopt the idea that needed improvements cannot wait for integration. Integrated education, for example, is not dropped as a necessary goal. But better education is vitally necessary right now in minority group areas. Immediacy takes precedence.

A similar feeling exists regarding housing. Negro leaders are firm in the conviction that a Negro should be able to move into any neighborhood he can afford. But they see an immediate, severe need for any kind of better housing.

Improvement now is the policy. It is desperately needed, and integration must wait until later. "The Negro tends to feel, according to Director Gordin, that the fight for equality in employment and use of public accommodation is largely won, at least in principle.

Alternatives to solving the problems of equality for minority groups are so terrible to think of, says Gordin, that we simply must solve them.

There has been much improvement in Michigan, and the civil rights director expresses the hope that the pace will quicken. He feels there might be a "polarization of extremes," with small groups taking vastly separated positions. But he thinks these groups will be increasingly smaller, and that the great middle segment of Michigan society will continue to bring about

Neat As A Skunk

Controlling pollution of air and water is a top priority project in both industry and government. A multibillion dollar undertaking affecting one, and all of us will have to help pay for it. The success of pollution control rests the lives of our world.

But there is another kind of pollution not so publicized for which the private individual is responsible, namely, highway, street, park recreation area pollution. The individual is to blame for this and has full control of it. From humans litter all public places.

Individuals scatter everything from chewing gum and candy wrappers, cigarette butts, napkins, newspapers and nose tissue to beer bottles, boxes of garbage and abandoned automobiles on streets, highways, public beaches, parks and recreation areas — not to mention the countryside generally.

The cities and states would save millions of dollars in taxes every year now spent for cleanup if we took our own trash home to our garbage can, a garbage dump, or put it in public containers along streets and highways.

Think it over the next time you start to throw dirt in public places. Even wild animals do not defile their habitat as humans do. Try to be neat as a skunk, and the public places you use will again be attractive.

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEAR AGO

August 10, 1934

Marriage vows were exchanged July 29 between Mary Ernestine Teach, Yeoman 2/c WAVES, daughter of Lt. and Mrs. Edgar A. Teach of Springfield, Ohio, and Capt. John Henry Peterson of the USAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Holger F. Peterson of Grayling, Michigan. The wedding was solemnized at the Church of the Holy Angels in Dayton, Ohio, by Rev. Fr. James Scanlon. In the absence of her father, who is serving overseas, the bride was given in marriage by Lt. Frank E. Lonergan, Jr. of Boston, Massachusetts. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Georgia Teach, as maid of honor, and Miss Marjorie Cornell of Macon, Georgia. The groom was attended by his brother, Burton Peterson; Lt. Wellington E. Pomeroy of Lansing and Lt. Frank E. Lonergan of Boston, Mass. acted as ushers. After a short trip to Northern Michigan and Mackinac Island, Captain and Mrs. Peterson will reside temporarily at Dayton, Ohio. To compliment Capt. John Henry Peterson and his bride, Mrs. H. W. Wolff was hostess to some 120 friends of the young couple Sunday evening. The spacious lawn and garden back of the Wolff summer home was the scene of the affair. Mrs. Peterson and the bride and groom received the guests just inside the arbor which leads to the gardens. Punch was served by Mrs. Andrew Wilson of Detroit and Miss Billyann Clipper. Others assisting the hosts were Mrs. Robert Hayes, Miss Mary Jane Joseph, Miss Ruth Burrows, Miss Kathryn Kittleman and Gloria Moore.

Mrs. Al Prue is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kellogg, down river.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Bensch of Bay City were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold MacNeven over the weekend.

Robert Jensen of Lansing is spending a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Jensen. Robert will enter the army soon.

Edward Wehnes is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Wehnes. Edward expects to go overseas soon.

As you go along Highway M-72 you will see on the south side of the road about four miles west of Grayling a sign reading "Danish Landing." If you should turn in there you would find a winding road running between tall pines, birches and hardwoods; a beautiful shaded vista, dark even when the sun is bright. When you have gone about a mile you will come to a colony of well kept cottages on Lake Margrethe which is known to most local people as Danish Landing, but whose real name is Portage Lake Park. If you were to make your reservation early enough in the spring you might rent one of the cottages for a week or the season, but you can never own one unless you are of Danish, Swedish, or Norwegian descent. Just forty years ago this spring, on April 27, 1904, a deed was turned over to a group of Scandinavian friends, mostly Danes who had decided that they would like to have a place on Portage Lake (now Lake Margrethe) where their families could spend their summers. They called themselves "The Portage Park Company." Four members of this original group are still living in the vicinity. They are Julius Nelson, Johannes Rasmussen, Lars Rasmussen and Peter Hanson. According to Mr. Nelson one member of the group went to see the owner of the land to see if it could be purchased, then they all went by horse and wagon to look it over. After some discussion they bought a piece 300 feet by 642 feet for $325, had it surveyed and divided into 38 lots, half on the lake front and the rest directly back, with a road between the two groups. The lots were numbered and the numbers drawn from a hat. When asked whether or not there seemed to be any resentment when a member drew one of the back lots Mrs. Nelson said everybody was satisfied, the lake front is part of the park and everybody can use it. Through all these forty years the park has been run on this basis; once a year a meeting is held to elect a president and secretary-treasurer and to transact the necessary business. Members own their lots and many have built and rebuilt on them. The park organization pays the taxes on the whole piece, maintains the road within the park, takes care of garbage disposal and oversees all other phases of service necessary to such a project. Most important is the water front, where they have the docks placed in the spring and removed for winter and special precautions are taken to safeguard the bathing beach. Present officers are Anthony Nelson president, Mrs. Elma Mae Moshier, secretary treasurer, Margaret Nelson trustee. So far as is known there has never been a written and signed agreement of any kind — all members are simply honor-bound to abide by the policies set up by their predecessors.

CAMP AU SABLE ACTIVITIES

One hundred campers are at the AuSable this week. Most are boys ages 9 to 12. This is the last week of camp during this season for juniors of the Michigan Council of Seventh Day Adventists. Next week the seniors will have their turn to entertain at the camp.

There have been 625 junior and senior youth campers this year at the camp. The four houses 100 each week are used for the others. It is interesting to note that half of those who come prefer to live in tents.

A program that includes crafts, nature lore has been conducted through the camping season. New forest trails have added interest to the lovers of the outdoors. Appropriate identification signs have been erected to guide the hikers and to help learn the names of plants, and ferns.

Joseph P. Renaud
Completes Training

GREAT LAKES, ILL. (FTH-NC) July 21 — Seaman Recruit Joseph P. Renaud, 19, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Renaud of 608 Chestnut St. Grayling, Mich., was graduated from nine weeks of Navy basic training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

His training was highlighted by participating in mid-America's "Salute to the Flag" ceremonies held at Soldier Field in Chicago. He was one of more than 10,000 Navy men who formed a human "Living Flag" in honor of all men and women who are, or have been, in the U.S. Armed Forces.

During his training he studied military subjects and lived and worked under conditions similar to those he will encounter on his first ship or at his first duty station. He also received instruction in seamanship, survival techniques, military drill and other related subjects.

PRICE HIKE IN STATE PARK
PERMIT FEES

LANSING — Prices of state park vehicle entrance permits went up August 1 in Michigan when Gov. Romney signed Senate Bill 95 into law.

The new law, which took immediate effect, increased annual $2-state park permit fees to $3 for residents and to $5 for nonresidents. Also raised were the 50-cent daily permits which now cost residents $1 and nonresidents $2.

If there is a question about the residency of a person applying to buy a permit, it will be determined by the designation on his driver's license rather than by the license plate of his vehicle.

BITS O' TALK

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Morse and family attended a family reunion at Goodrich Sunday, then went on to Buchanan to see their new granddaughter, Trudy Lynn, born July 29 to Stanley and Betty Morse. The little girl weighed 7 lbs. and 4 oz. Her daddy is serving in Viet Nam. Grandparents on her mother's side are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weaver.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Said and sons Tom and John of Farmington stopped at the Avalanche Monday on their way home from the U.P. Mrs. Said wanted a copy of the newspaper, and noticing a last year's copy of the paper, asked if she could buy it too, saying her mother used to live in Grayling. Mrs. Said is the former Mary Jo Hazel, daughter of Mrs. Grace Loader Hazel of Detroit, who was a daughter of Scott and Emma Loader who lived here in the early 1900's. Emma is still living, age 87, and makes her home also in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Jones and daughter Wendy of Beaverton called on her mother Mrs. Mike Lapka and grandmother Mrs. Fred Wiehe Friday.

Mrs. J. R. Johnson of Coldwater, Fla. is a guest of Mrs. Bertha Peterson this week. She is the mother of Mrs. Burton Peterson and spends summers with her children in East Lansing.

JAYCEE LITTER
PROGRAM

With the close of the canoeing season drawing near, the Grayling Area Jaycees have evaluated their litter barrel program which has been in effect for one year.

It is felt that the barrels are a success. Their impact on the canoeing public has been very well received. The fact that well over 250 bushels of litter has been removed from these barrels alone does not show their complete value. These barrels make the canoeist aware of our problem and it is felt that they impress the people enough that some of them hold their garbage until they arrive at another barrel whether it be a Jaycee barrel or one of those put out by the Department of Conservation. The barrels have also been given state-wide publicity, which never hurts our area.

Bridal Shower Held

Miss Sharon Long was the honored guest at a bridal shower last Tuesday evening at her home, given by her bridesmaids, Mrs. David Shaw of Fayetteville, North Carolina and the Misses Lorraine Failing and Barbara Crouch of Grayling.

A very pleasant evening was spent playing games for some 30 guests.

Sharon was assisted in opening her many lovely gifts by her niece and flower girl, Lynn Elzinga of Vanderbilt.

A luncheon of chicken salad, relish trays, crackers and ice cream and cake was served to her guests in the very nicely decorated basement recreation room.

Those here from out of town were Miss Sue Onweller, a former room mate from Hudson, Michigan, Mrs. Ralph Schmucker from Westland, Mrs. Kenneth Allen and Mrs. Jim Madill of Frederic and Sharon's sister and matron of honor Mrs. Allen Elzinga and Lynn from Vanderbilt.

LITTLE LEAGUE GAMES!

By Harry Miller

The Legion and Moose split in two exciting games. The first game, with Sajdak and McClain dueling, found the Legion on top 7-6. The next game, Red Weaver of the Moose shut the gate on the Legion with a nifty 2-hitter, 3-0, with good support in the field.

Sorenson kept rolling along with a twin killing of the Military. Heavy hitting and strong pitching by Horning and Parkinson won games 15-4 and 6-3. Thompson, being hit by a hard line drive on the head, is now reported fine, and is back with his team.

World War I Vets Meet

World War I AuSable Barracks and Auxiliary met for a potluck supper August 1 at the Legion Home, which was followed by their separate meetings.

The Auxiliary meeting was opened by the President with fourteen members and one guest present. Reports were given by the chairmen. It was reported no one would be able to attend the national convention at Indianapolis in September. Mona Failing reported on the very nice time had by all who attended the dessert-coffee given by the officers wives at Camp Grayling July 19th. Irene Myers and Edna Feldhauser won prizes.

The charter was draped in memory of our sister Katherine Deckrow and a thank you letter was sent to Michelson Memorial Methodist Church for use of the basement for dinner for relatives and guests following the funeral.

NURSERY NEWS

Joan Gray, State Co-ordinator for the Mid-Michigan Council of Cooperative Nurseries, and Mary Ruth Harsha, Area Co-ordinator, met recently with local women at Michelson Memorial Church. Ladies who came early inspected the fine nursery rooms at the church. The discussions which followed were informal as Mrs. Harsha pointed out that parents gain as much as children do from a cooperative nursery experience. Parents increase their understanding of and ability to work with young children. Parents' talents are made use of in the program of the nursery. Parents become better acquainted with each other and feel more a part of their community through their efforts.

Mrs. Harsha showed slides of a nursery in action. The local group saw children and adults in the various activities of art, music, storytime and free-play. The meeting ended as committees were formed to begin the work of setting up a nursery here in Grayling.

Waltz Thru Washday

"Waltz Through Washday" is the theme of a fashion show scheduled for Boyne City August 15, 1967 by the Top O' Michigan Rural Electric Company. Miss Ann Arnett, who is senior staff Home Economist with the Maytag Company, Newton, Iowa, will demonstrate six recipes for happy washday. Miss Arnett travels to all parts of the United States as she works with appliance dealers, utility companies, educational groups and the laundry industry. Persons attending the program will see the difference that good and bad laundry procedures make on the same item of clothing, including methods of pre-treating soil and effective stain-removal procedures. Miss Arnett will give information on new fabrics, fabric treatments and finishes and new detergents. All these trips will enable the home-maker to do a much more satisfying job of keeping washable fabrics really attractive.

If you are curious to learn more about new fabrics or if you just want to learn the latest correct laundering procedure, make sure you remember Tuesday, August 15, 1967 at 1:30 p.m. The program will be presented in the auditorium at the Top O'Michigan Rural Electric Company, 319 N. Lake Street, Boyne City, Michigan. "Waltz Thru also Bob's sister Mr. and Mrs.

 several years that all have been together at one time.

Three local junior high students who spent last week on the campus of Alma College attending an Art-Science Seminar returned to Grayling with glowing reports of the success of the project sponsored by the Mott Foundation. Tentative plans are for a larger and more extensive seminar next year.

Don Elsey, Jerry King and Jackie McEvers were the three Grayling students who took part in this year's Seminar. The five-days on-campus allowed these students to gain an intensive, in-depth study in the field of art, astronomy and outdoor biological science. Students were also given the opportunity to make use of the City of Alma's recreation center, where they took part in gymnastic activities as well as making good use of the pool.

During their first day on campus, the students were given an orientation program and the week's schedule was explained to them. Later in the day the students were given an orientation of the field trips they would take during the week. The late evening hours were spent observing the skies through high-power telescopes.

The second day of the seminar,
 the students went on a field trip to the Vestaburg Bog, a geological oddity of the world. The entire day was spent on the bog studying the various flora and fauna under the watchful supervision of Dr. Eyer, an Alma College staff member.

Wednesday brought still another field trip, this time to Camp Cutler, a nature study area of Alma College. Once again the students were in the field all day with Alma staff member Dr.
 Kapp. The Camp Cutler field trip was a nature study excursion and a portion of the afternoon hours was given to a nature scavenger hunt in which various articles of nature were found and brought in for points.

On Thursday morning, the students were divided into interest groups and were allowed to carry on an intensive project in a field in which they were interested. Jackie McEvers elected to go with Mr. George Gibbs, noted biologist, to a nearby lake to seine an dstudy fish in a biological experiment.

A portion of each days activities was also donated to the field of art. The students studied three eras of artistic endeavor and each student completed some project making use only of items that were used in the era studied.
 The project which seemed to capture the most interest was painting with raw eggs.

All three students have expressed the desire to return to Alma next year if it is possible.
 Some of the projects completed by the students while they were on campus are displayed in a local store window.

A unique educational program has been initiated at the Boys School Youth Rehabilitation Camps, LaVictorie at Grayling and Nokomis at Prudenville, reports Director Harold S. Gazan, which includes driver education. Eight boys from each camp are involved in driver training. Federal funds through the Title I program were used to develop a concentrated remedial reading program for those whose reading level was below the fourth grade. This is where driver education fits in, as the camps have used this as an incentive to encourage these boys to participate actively in the special remedial reading. McEv. ers Motor Sales has loaned a car for use in the program.

Miss Karen Atkinson arrived home July 24th from Grand Rapids, planning to spend the rest of the summer here with her mother, Mrs. Alex Atkinson. Sunday Karen and fiancé Karl Goltick visited her uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Swanson and daughter Cathy at St. Ignace.

Where Are Murals From "Vacationland"?

Mrs. Frank Bond sent the Avalanche a news item which tells that the Icebreaker ferry "Vacationland," once the flagship of the Straits of Mackinac ferry fleet, has been sold again and given a new name. The 360-foot ship ended its runs between Mackinaw City and St. Ignace when the Mighty Mac bridge was opened ten years ago. The "Vacationland" was sold in 1951 for $1.2 million (half the cost of building it) to the Campagne de Navigation Nord Sud, Ltd. of Rimouski, Quebec. Since then it has operated across the St. Lawrence river between Rimouski and Boi Comeau — a 50 mile trip. Capt. Frank Nelson, who commanded the "Vacationland" when it was a part of the highway fleet, said he has been notified it now has been sold to the British Columbia Ferry Association and is en route to Canada's west coast. The "Vacationland" was renamed the "Pere Noel" when it was sold to the Quebec firm. It will be renamed the "Western Queen" when it goes into service in British Columbia.

Many people have wondered what happened to this almost new and most beautiful ferry — now we know. And now poses another question. Where along the way were the priceless photographs by Russ Martin discarded? These adorned the walls in the lounges of not only the "Vacationland" but the other smaller ferries as well? We could use a couple right here in Grayling, couldn't we, Mrs. Bond remarks.

The Woman's Club had its monthly meeting Monday with Pres. Sal Truettner giving a discussion on future projects. Secretary Marge Hargrave reported on the bake sale held at the State Park last month. Treasurer Helen Johnson reported on the club's financial condition and the future budget roughly outlined.

Lora Gould described the progress of the Ausauga bridge project, and asked the women club to serve refreshments at the official opening. After a discussion it was agreed that refreshments be presented silver tea, with the object being a movie projector for elderly tenant community. The meeting ended with ice cream and coffee served by hostesses Marge Staley and Matilda Bishop.

Ohio Guard

that Rhodes had reviewed the division at Camp Grayling (the division has trained here eight years) and he said: "I hope this is not our last meeting here." "Proof of the need to retain a 'strong national guard as it is,' he said, 'are the recent emergencies to protect the lives and property of law-abiding citizens.'"

The Ohio division would be one of 15 across the nation (Michigan's 46th is another) that would be downgraded under the proposed plan to reorganize the reserve and national guard.

During the review, one of the division's members, Lt. Richard E. Wallace of Toledo, received the Soldiers Medal, highest heroism award given for a non-combat action.

As a training officer on the hand grenade range at Ft. Knox, Ky., Lt. Wallace picked up a live grenade that had been dropped by a recruit and threw it over a safety wall an instant before it exploded.
